CENTENARY COLLEGE

...For the Education of Your Life

Centenary College is a four-year liberal arts college—the oldest private institution west of the Mississippi River.

With an enrollment of 950 men and women, it affords students an opportunity to nurture their academic endeavors in the warm and personal atmosphere of a small college.

Centenary, as an institution of the United Methodist Church, is founded on a Judeo-Christian heritage which emphasizes the wholeness of human life, the interrelatedness of knowledge and the dignity of man.

The 65-acre campus of rolling hills and stately pines is a natural setting for Centenary's Georgian architecture. Located two miles south of downtown Shreveport, Centenary College is situated in the heart of the geographical, cultural and economic center of the Ark-La-Tex.

Centenary is proud of its tradition of academic excellence and provides a superior education for students capable of intellectual leadership. With widely varied offerings and individually constructed programs, Centenary serves students' education interests without departing from the liberal arts concept.

Working closely with faculty advisors, students choose three courses in each of the four major divisions of the College—humanities, natural sciences, social sciences and fine arts. Beyond that, the college offers students the opportunity to pursue honors programs, independent study and research, study at other major academic institutions and travel programs for credit.

Individual attention is a natural outgrowth of Centenary's student-professor ratio of 12-1. Over 90 per cent of the senior faculty hold doctoral degrees.

Over $635,000 in scholarships and financial aid is awarded each year to Centenary students. In addition, there are work-study opportunities and student loans.

A visit to Centenary is one of the best ways to get to know us. Sit in on classes, talk with the professors, attend the theatre or a concert, visit with the students ... and you can experience the quality of Centenary's caring community.

FLOYD HORGEN Athletic Director

"A new day is dawning in Centenary Athletics ..." Floyd Horgen said at a recent dinner honoring three of the college's top athletic stars of this decade.

What he didn't say—wouldn't say—is that one of the people most responsible for that is Floyd Horgen.

He came to Centenary a year ago with the reputation as an outstanding golf coach ... indeed, a teaching golf professional.

He has proven to be that, and much more.

Horgen has worked long days to improve the Centenary athletic program at every level. He has emphasized quality and implemented new ideas in promotions, ticket sales and fund-raising ... all designed to have Centenary athletics stand on its own feet economically.

One result is the largest Gents Club drive in history ... almost doubling any previous effort.

"My job," he says, "is to develop an atmosphere where excellence can be created, where we can fully develop each student-athlete and bring recognition to Centenary."

In golf, not surprisingly, the Gents earned respect among the nation's better teams last year and will compete for the national championship this year.

That's not new for Horgen. He came to Centenary just after his Brevard (Fla.) Community College team had won its fourth national junior college title in six years.

Horgen has a strong background in basketball, too. He coached at McArthur High in Hollywood, Fla., for four years (1963-67), his teams going 80-27. And he was assistant basketball coach at Brevard six years with the teams compiling a terrific 147-24 record.

CENTENARY ATHLETICS: The Big Picture

by FLOYD HORGEN
Centenary Athletic Director

Centenary has adopted the theme of "quality" for the 1980's and that is definitely our goal in athletics. We think we have made significant progress in the past two years and the future looks good for the Centenary Ladies and Gentlemen.

There is no doubt that the Shreveport-Bossier community wants—and deserves—quality athletics.

There also is no doubt that Centenary needs the community to help support the program. It is, in a sense, the people's program.

This is true with any phase of any private institution of higher learning in the country. The financial support—and the moral support—must come from the people who believe Centenary plays an important role in the community.

In that respect, the state schools receive financial support for athletics (among many other things) from the state.

What we are getting at is our Gents Club, the booster organization for athletics at Centenary. Without its support we cannot exist at the quality level we are seeking ... and achieving.

The money the Gents Club donates to Centenary Athletics helps pay expenses for travel, recruiting, printing, supplies ... in short, the entire operation. The College itself, in turn, provides the scholarships for the student-athletes.

"A Commitment to Quality" was the theme on our Gents Club brochure this year. The response has been outstanding.

We organized the Gents Club drive with its Board of Directors, pushing toward a one-day rush designed to renew old memberships and recruit new ones.

The drive was headed by Gordon Marsalis with Ronnie Sawyer and Howard Sutton as league commissioners. The workers, almost 80 of them, were divided into eight teams and prizes were awarded to the teams and members who recruited the most new members.

They covered the city and to say they did a great job is an understatement. Here is what they achieved in the drive: Total membership is now near 600, almost double of any previous year's effort; the total money pledged was near $142,000—again almost double of any previous year.

And we are not through. We fully expect to go over the goal of $150,000—the biggest share of the yearly budget for Centenary Athletics.

That budget is set at $230,000 and the remaining amount needed, about $80,000, will come from season ticket sales, single game ticket sales, concessions and program sales and other fund-raising projects.

One area in which we have placed increased emphasis is promotions. In basketball, we have lined up several special nights ... three T-Shirt giveaway nights, YMCA Nights, KWKH Country Club Night, photo giveaway nights. And we have the Red River Chevy Shootout, giveaways of two pizzas and a dinner for two, the "Dash for Cash," the miniature basketballs (to be thrown to fans during games.)

These are all sponsored by a business firm or organization, which means Centenary has paid little to receive a lot. And they are all designed to create interest in our program and our schools, to bring people to Centenary's campus and for those people to enjoy themselves and reap the rewards at our basketball games.

We hope to do more of the same in other sports.

(See Page 44 of this program for a list of the special nights we have for basketball.)

Centenary's athletic program received a tremendous boost when it joined the Trans America Athletic Conference. The role of the independent in college athletics is dwindling—unless you are Notre Dame or Marquette. With a conference, Centenary has a much better in-road to post-season play, scheduling, recruiting and, maybe most important, a yearly basis for comparing its program with its fellow schools.

In basketball, the Trans America's goal is an automatic berth for its champion in the NCAA Tournament. What does it mean financially? A first-round NCAA game is worth about $40,000 (after expenses) to the participating team with shares going to the conference and its teams. A second round game is worth about $100,000 and it increases as you advance. A Final Four team will receive about $250,000.

We are seeking stability in basketball and we think we have come a long way toward that in the past few months. If the team can hang together through a tough December schedule, we can be very competitive, particularly in the TAAC tournament.

In baseball, Dr. James C. Farrar is a proven winner, has done wonders improving the facility and will continue to improve the program. We have added a very enthusiastic new tennis coach, Jimmy Harrison, who is well-known locally and whose program will gain the support of the community. In cross country and soccer, we had some tough luck in the TAAC championships, but were no doubt very competitive with the other schools.

In golf, we have a good chance for the NCAA championship. Our players can match anyone in the country in a given tournament and that's a proven fact. In gymnastics, we have two straight national championships and are confident that Vannie Edwards will have some of the nation's top girls here. We are very proud to host the 1980 AIAW Division II National Championships March 28-29 in the Gold Dome.

It's a positive picture, one we think will get even better. And a big reason for that is a very willing college and community.

The Trans America Athletic Conference

For Centenary, the Trans America Athletic Conference was a dream come true.

After more than 25 years as an independent, Centenary joined seven other Southern universities to form the TAAC in September, 1978.

The conference's progress has been rapid. Accepted as an allied voting member of NCAA Division 1, the league crowned four champions last year—Northeast Louisiana (basketball), Mercer (baseball), Oklahoma City (tennis) and Centenary (golf).

Oklahoma City, which won all-sports honors, has since pulled out of the TAAC to join another new league. But the conference expanded by adding Northwestern State of Natchitoches, La., and Georgia Southern of Statesboro, Ga., for spring sports in 1980 and basketball in 1980-81.

The league office was established in Shreveport's new American Tower and Bob Vanatta was hired as conference commissioner.

Vanatta, a college basketball coach for 21 years and athletic director at four different schools, was most recently commissioner of the Ohio Valley Conference for four years.

His strong contacts with the NCAA give hope to TAAC teams that an automatic NCAA Tournament bid for the league basketball champ is not far off.

With that in mind, the conference teams are beginning round-robin play this season, one year earlier than originally planned. The second annual postseason championship tournament will be played in Monroe (at Northeast Louisiana) Feb. 28-March 1.

The round-robin plus championship tournament meets NCAA criteria for the automatic qualification. The request will be made next year.

The first TAAC basketball champ, Northeast, earned a spot in the NIT.

For Centenary, this will be the first shot at the TAAC cage title. The Gents did not play in last year's tournament because of a schedule conflict.

Centenary did host the first TAAC tournaments in baseball and golf.

The league will be basketball-oriented, but championships will be determined in the spring sports plus cross country and soccer in the fall.

But . . . we're in a brand new, bigger home and we are now owned locally by the people who actually are responsible for your printing.

You can be sure we are going all out to bring you new services and to improve our present service. Try us!
